

GARY POWERS LECTURE TOUR -- Hamburg, Die Welt, German,

23 Oct 72, p 22

Gary Powers, a 43-year-old former U-2 pilot who has been unemployed for 2 years, has begun a lecture tour throughout the United States because "I've got to earn money somehow." He will give lectures at universities on the details of his spectacular 1960 spy mission. The U-2 flown by Powers was shot down over the Soviet Union, and Khrushchev seized this opportunity as cause for calling off a summit conference with U.S. president Eisenhower. Powers commented on his lecture tour, "I'm desperately afraid."
